Enclosed with this I am sending a newspaper cut of a medal belonging in my family, and which is for sale. I am advised by W. de C. Ravenal of the Smithsonian Institution, Washington, that you will inform me of the price that should be put upon the medal. I shall be greatly obliged to you for advice in this matter.

Will you kindly return to me with your answer the clipping, as it is at present the only picture I have of the article.

Very Truly

Dear Madam:

Concerning the Indian Peace Medal, we had similar correspondence with a Mr. Hamilton A. Dinsmore about a year ago. The medal is of value, but how much we would not venture to state. There are several varieties, both in size and in date. The really rare one is much larger than your specimen. We paid $125. for one like yours, and $350. for the rarer date of 1766. I would suggest that you communicate with Mr. Wayne Raymond, 465 Park Avenue, New York, and see what he will offer for it.

Very truly yours,

Curator.
